

2021 CIVIC LEARNING AND DEMOCRATIC ENGAGEMENT MEETING #CLDE21

A partnership between NASPA and AASCU's American Democracy Project (ADP)

A NOTE FROM OUR LEADERSHIP

The turbulent 2020 election, the aftershocks of which continue to reverberate through American political and civil discourse, underscored the urgent need for higher education to reassert its role in democratic society. Higher education's contribution to American life has always extended beyond promoting economic mobility and individual gain for our students. The undergraduate experience produces active citizens and responsible community members (Gillis and Perrin 2019).

AASCU and NASPA are committed to supporting higher education professionals, partners and students in this work. Our organizations foster the type of high-impact practices that have a demonstrated link to civic engagement after college (Flanagan and Levine 2010). We are proud to partner on the Civic Learning and Democratic Engagement Meeting (CLDE21), a forum designed to facilitate the exchange of best practices around college-level democratic engagement work. The theme for CLDE21 is Defining the Path Forward. Campus practitioners and experts in the field will convene to reflect on lessons learned from the past year and to identify strategies to define our path forward in providing support and growing the population of engaged citizens in this country.

Through CLDE and other initiatives, we are leading efforts to re-center civic learning in the landscape of American education and to invest in preparing students for successful careers and responsible citizenship. We invite you to support this work and connect with dedicated CLDE professionals by sponsoring CLDE21. The attached prospectus outlines a variety of opportunities to present, exhibit, convene focus groups, and so much more. Please fill out the application and return it to Kristie Jacobsen Jerde kjerde@naspa.org or Ramona Crawford crawfordr@aascu.org.

We look forward to working with you,

“Democracy transformed from thin paper to thick action is the greatest form of government on earth.”

ABOUT THE CIVIC LEARNING AND DEMOCRATIC ENGAGEMENT MEETING

The 2021 Civic Learning and Democratic Engagement Meeting (CLDE21) will facilitate exchange of knowledge and develop a sense of community around our shared civic learning and democratic engagement work. The theme for CLDE21 is Defining the Path Forward. The past year has created unique challenges for our institutions, students, and communities and CLDE21 provides an opportunity to come together to reflect on the lessons learned and identify opportunities and imperatives to help define our path forward.

The meeting is designed around the emergent theory of change which poses four important questions:

- 1. Purpose: What are the key features of the thriving democracy we aspire to enact and support through our work?
- 2. Learning Outcomes: What knowledge, skills, and dispositions do people need in order to help create and contribute to a thriving democracy?
- 3. Pedagogy: How can we best foster the acquisition and development of the knowledge, skills, and dispositions necessary for a thriving democracy?
- 4. Strategy: How can we build the institutional culture, infrastructure, and relationships needed to support learning that enables a thriving democracy?

ABOUT AASCU

AASCU institutions advance social mobility for students of all backgrounds, positively impacting them, their families, and their communities for generations to come. Offering more than three million students each year an affordable, high-quality college education—particularly those from low-income families, first-generation college students, and/or students of color—AASCU institutions are stewards of their communities, powering economic growth and preparing graduates to be informed and engaged citizens who live by the values of a democratic society.

ABOUT NASPA

NASPA is the professional home for the field of student affairs. Together, we are dedicated to fulfilling the promise of higher education through our guiding principles of Integrity, Innovation, Inclusion, and Inquiry. We place students at the center of our work, serving the field through exceptional professional development, research to take on our biggest challenges, advocacy for inclusive and equitable practices and communities, and nurturing networks and pipelines to mentor, rejuvenate, and support.
